

Yearly Tarot Reading for XXXXXXXX
Personally Prepared by Marla Brooks

The Querent Card is the card that represents you at the present time. And the card drawn as your querent card was the Six of Cups. This card represents nostalgia and happy memories, and it seems that you are spending more time than usual lately perhaps dwelling on the past. While some of these memories are good ones, at the same time, some unpleasant things come to mind and this card suggests that it is important to recover and deal with some of the emotional baggage that you continue to carry from a long time ago. At this point in your life, you need to be let go of it. This is a good time to review some significant aspects from your past and talk to someone you trust to “get it off your chest.”

This is also a card representing people from your past as well. There is a good chance that you might renew an old acquaintance, or an old friend might bring news of a job offer, in which you'll be called upon to use some old skills that have lain dormant for quite a while. There is also the possibility of a change of residence.

March: Someone may present you with an offer that you are going to find hard to resist, but use your head in making all important decisions this month because you will no doubt be working on an emotional level rather than a logical one. You will be particularly sensitive to someone else's emotional state and will feel the need to bend over backwards to please him/her, which may or may not be a good thing. You will be guided this month by psychic awareness which will bring you greater insights into your world than you've had in recent months, and you will seek solutions to practical problems through spirituality and healing rather than by logical thought. This is a great month to get in touch with your spirit guides through meditation and rely on them to help you sort things out.

April: This isn't going to be a good time to take any unnecessary risks of any kind, and what makes the situation trickier is that you're going to have a "devil may care" attitude throughout the month. What you will come to realize is that although you are feeling trapped in an oppressive situation, it is of your own making, and you have been your own worst enemy for quite some time. It's time to face your fears and inhibitions, but more importantly, your hopelessness and belief that you are unable to change is stifling your growth. Why do you believe that it is your fate to suffer? It's time for a reality check and to figure out the things that you have done to enslave your life. It's time to let go of that fearfulness and negative thinking, whether it be about relationships or material goods and set things straight. Circumstances may not always look rosy, but you have the power to turn things around. Just KNOW that you do, and set things in motion for the better.

May: Your vulnerability is showing this month and you seem overwhelmed by current situations. You may be depending on others too much to steer your life and, as a carryover from last month, you need to take control of your “inner demons.” It seems as though someone may be bullying you or pushing you around, and you will need to rely on your inner strength with conviction to take back that power and move forward. To make progress, you need to come to terms with guilt, self-doubt and fears. Physically, you are going to have to take better care of your health, which is something you haven’t been doing too much of lately. Anger and rage can play havoc with your body, so please try to avoid those emotions as best you can. You are seeing others as being emotional and controlling towards you, so you have to look inward, balance your mind and body and draw on the strength of both to make things right.

June: The tendency to reject an opportunity or plan is strong right now, yet if you do that, you’re going to feel like the one who has been rejected. You may feel frazzled or annoyed at someone who rejects a proposal you make, and you will feel as though you are not being taken seriously. Your energies in general will feel quite scattered and a downturn in job or career matters is possible but it will be your own indecision or lack of energy that may be the cause. Be careful who you share your secrets with at this time because someone does not have your best interests at heart and may go out of their way to try and discredit you. Health wise be very careful that you do not get dehydrated. You’re taking on more than you can handle right now, which is pretty normal for you, but please try and pull back on that just a little bit in order to take some time to “recharge your batteries.”

July: You will be concerned about a child's emotional well-being this month. Maybe you will be witnessing the consequences of spoiling a child or will be acting like a spoiled child yourself. For some reason you're not living up to your potential or making use of your talents. Instead, you have the tendency to daydream to kind of "get away from it all." Even though you are able to tap into your psychic abilities, the messages you get this month may be false, so it would be wise for you to act on logic and not the spiritual side at the present time.

August: Some money or recognition you've been expecting will be delayed or will not come through at this time. There must have been a misunderstanding or a failure in communications that is causing this. In the job market, there will either be a delay in getting the job you have been hoping for or someone else will get it. News or deliveries get waylaid this month as well, so the best advice I can give is to continue to muddle through as best you can and roll with the punches.

September: Things could be better, but they really aren't as bad as you perceive them to be. Your life is too intense right now and you may be feeling a bit burned out. This could be literal as well as figurative, in that the weather may be scorching and just knocking you out. You still have delays and obstacles to overcome, and still have some problems that are annoying, but not overwhelming, but overall, if you can maintain a positive attitude, there is a promise of light at the end of the tunnel. Even though you feel as though you have that dark cloud still hanging over your head, it's not a permanent fixture. But again, you're still acting a bit pessimistic and are filling your head with negative affirmations. It's important that you once again remind yourself that you are your own worst enemy and banish as much negativity from your life as possible and you will definitely see things turn around.

October: The opportunity to start a business venture that promises monetary gain is finally here. Any financial enterprise that you begin now will lead to prosperity and security, and the money that you need to start this venture will become available to you. Doors will also open to people or persons who will help you along the way with this. You will be dealing with important correspondence and legal documents, but it's all for the good and there should be no problems in getting this all done. This is also a terrific month health wise so in short, it is a month of illumination, enlightenment, good health and good work.

November: Your creativity this month will keep that enterprise you began last month going smoothly. People in the business arena will be looking up to you and coming to you for advice and answers. You will not only be advising people but lending them your support as well. To help you out, you will be receiving advice from a strong, mature and generous man and throughout the month, and will be given the opportunity to mix with very interesting people. You're on top of your game right now, and I'm not going to say that you can do no wrong, but it would be pretty difficult. The Thanksgiving holiday plays a part in all this good fortune.

December: Don't take any unnecessary risks this month because the fruits of your labor the past couple of months can take a downward turn if you are not diligent about maintaining the status quo. It's the old saying about what goes up must come down, and you'll be maneuvering a slippery slope if you get complacent about your life and your work. There may be a superabundance of change that goes along with growth and expansion in a venture, and it may happen so quickly, you don't have the time to logic it all out. This could bring on the return of fear and self doubt which has plagued you in the early months of the year, but don't let that throw you off. Try and maintain that positive attitude and know that you can turn things around if it looks as though you're headed for a fall.

January: You're lacking clarity of vision right now, so the decisions you're forced to make this month may be scattered, unfocused or delayed. I think your self esteem may take a little bit of a hit as well, but you need to keep in mind that all this is just temporary. When good things happen in our lives, we can expect someone to throw a cosmic monkey wrench into the mix just to shake things up. Is it a test? Perhaps. Karmic? More than likely. Someone is reaching out to you and for some reason you're having difficulty accepting their help. You have acres of diamonds surrounding you, so just open your eyes. There is cause to have continued faith in the future as well as in yourself, but sometimes your stubbornness gets in the way.

February: You're finding it difficult to reach your goal because you have some unfinished business to clear up first. You need to take a step back and look at the entire picture so that you can clearly see what needs to be finished up. If you feel restricted or feel that your energy is low at this time, just remember about the emotional baggage that you were supposed to drop off a few months ago and remember that sometimes old habits die hard. Responsibilities and obligations might hang you up for a while, but that's in everyone's life and not delegated just to you to put a damper on things. From this point on, you can have the world at your feet if you set your mind to it, both personally and on a business level. You're entering an ew cycle of your life that promises many good things ahead.